John Deere Light Running Binder

"It's the lightest-running binder ever built." That is the verdict of grain-growers who have used the Light-Running New John Deere.

That easy pull, so much desired, is a quality built into the John Deere at the factory—the result of knowing how.

THE LIGHT-RUNNING NEW JOHN DEERE GRAIN BINDER

Eight sets of bearings, roller and ball, self-aligning; also means for thorough and convenient lubrication. Every oil hole is easy to get to; every operating part can be oiled properly to reduce wear and lighten draft.

Great strength; wide suspension-type steel wheels; strong, hot riveted frame; rigid platform and elevators.

Improved wheel lifts and shifts easily—cannot sag or whip.

Elevators of big capacity; no waste, no clogging.

Improved guard and sickle—made like a mower cutter bar. Easy to repair.

Handy bundle carrier. A boy can operate it. Does not scatter bundles.

All steel quick-turn Tongue Truck. Wheels hold to the ground. Relieve horses of side draft and neck weight. Keeps binder running straight. Flexible axle—both wheels conform to uneven grounds.

MARRIED

WRIGHT-BRIDGEMAN

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bridgeman, of Victoria, was the scene of a very beautiful, though quiet wedding, on Saturday, June 19, at 8 p.m. when Miss Henrietta Bridgeman, formerly of St. Mary's, was united in marriage to Mr. James Wright, of Lacombe.

The bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her brother, William B. as the wedding march was played by Mrs. A. L. Elliott. Rev. B. J. Bridgeman, of Saskatoon, brother of bride and groom, officiated, in the presence of a few immediate friends of the contracting parties.

Miss Jean Bridgeman was the beautiful little flower girl.

After the ceremony and the signing of the register all enjoyed a delicious buffet luncheon, served by Mr. B. J. White and Mrs. Wright, while Mrs. Elliott poured the tea.

The happy couple left for Edmonton on the 9:40 train and were given a most joyous farewell, amidst showers of rice and confetti.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright will reside at Lacombe.

McCLELLAND-MATHIESON

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the Free Cathedral of the Redeemer, Calgary, on Wednesday, June 30, at 2:30 p.m. when Winnie Williams, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. Mathieson, formerly of Lacombe, was united in marriage to Alfred Ernest McClelland, son of Mr. John and the late Mrs. E. McClelland, of Calgary, Co. Down, Ireland. Rev. Dean Faget officiated.

Owing to the illness of her father, the bride entered the church on the arm of Rev. W. A. Gray, who gave her away in marriage. She looked very charming in her wedding gown of white tulle and lace, her tulle veil being held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms.

She carried a shower bouquet of Madeline Butterflies, roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Jean Terrio acted as matron of honor and was smartly gowned in pink georgette with silver lace trimmings and wore a picture hat to match. She carried a bouquet of cream roses.

Miss Leona Flegel made a charming bridesmaid in a dainty frock of cotton crepe trimmed with lace and wore a white picture hat. Her bouquet was of pink roses and carnations.

Mr. H. E. Branagh supported the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. McClelland left for Banff where the honeymoon will be spent and on their return will reside in the city.

Charles Stuart Smyth of Edmonton and Madge Edith Pierce of Oyster, at The Massey, Lacombe on July 2, 1926, by Rev. R. B. Layton.

LACOMBE WINS RED DEER

The football competition played at Red Deer on the 1st resulted in Lacombe winning the cup. The first draw was between Wood River and Ponoka, result Ponoka won. In the game between Red Deer and Lacombe, play went 20 minutes overtime, Lacombe winning 2-1. Joffe got the bye. Lacombe and Joffe were drawn in the next round, Ponoka getting the bye. Immediately after the hard game with Red Deer, Lacombe had to take the field against Joffe, winning 2 to 1.

The final game, Ponoka vs. Lacombe started sharp at 7:30, giving Lacombe time to rest. From the beginning, Ponoka pressed hard, but found Mitchell and Law playing their usual steady game. The previous games that the Lacombe boys had played had their effect. Half time came with no score. After the lemon-time, Lacombe played wonderful football, having the best of the game by a wide margin, but lacked the punch to score. Final time arrived with neither side getting a point. Extra time was played with no score. The Red Deer executive got together, and decided as Lacombe had played 3 full games with 30 minutes overtime that they had enough and called the game for Tuesday night at 7:30. The game started with a Red Deer referee, Lineamen. Ponoka as usual started making tracks for Lacombe's goal, but found the defence solid. Some lovely chances to score were lost through over-keenness. In the final period, Ritz took the ball well up and passed to Spink who drew the Ponoka defence on him, made a snappy pass to Hayman who scored. This was the winning goal for the cup. The cup was presented immediately after the game by the Mayor of Red Deer.

FOOTBALL

This league game was played on Friday night between Ponoka and Lacombe.

The strenuous games Lacombe had at Red Deer were telling on them, as every man was still stiff and sore, and never played their regular game at all. Half time arrived with no score. Two minutes after starting the second half, Ponoka's right wing took a ball well up and passed right across the goal mouth, and scored—Laguer was taken by surprise and made no attempt to stop. Give and take was the order, first Lacombe's goal was tested, then directly afterwards, Ponoka's goal keeper was called on to save. Ponoka scored one goal on a foul.

The final score was Ponoka 3, Lacombe 0.

Thirsty?

Here's the Answer

First, sparkling, carbonated water—next, the juice of luscious oranges—next, the delightful flavor of their peel. Added to this, restful tang of the fruit adds from oranges, lemons and limes—a pure food color, such as you use in your cakes and candies—pure cane sugar.

Don't Let Them Gyp Our Boys and Girls

CHILDREN love Orange-CRUSH. Why should your youngsters be deceived into accepting an imitation possibly harmful—certainly inferior? Yet every day an unscrupulous dealer may cajole little Mary or Jack into accepting a substitute because of an extra profit of a fraction of a cent a bottle.

The kiddies need not be disappointed. Tell them that Orange-CRUSH is found only in the Krinkly Bottle with the name Orange-CRUSH blown into the glass. Tell them to spend their nickels with the honest dealer—perhaps a few steps further up the street.

As a rule, dealers are honest. Only a few dealers here and there will substitute. The Orange-CRUSH sign identifies the man who deserves your patronage. You see, Orange-CRUSH costs him more than he would have to pay for cheaper imitations, yet he knows that he can make more money with Orange-CRUSH than with any other drink in the world. People don't have to be urged to buy the CRUSHES.

There is an exhibition in the show window of the McDonald Drug Co., a display of luscious strawberries, grown on the Experimental Farm and they compare favorably with the berries from B. C. They are from new seedling plants, named "Lacombe," and are well adapted for this climate.

Talking of strawberries, John Hugg whose farm is on Gull Lake, has this year a splendid crop of berries from his garden. He is disposing of large quantities at the lake every day, and expects a pick about 1200 boxes this season. He says that "Lacombe" berries were well, with very little care, and he is also of the opinion that small fruits brought in at present from B. C. can be produced here in quantity. If Mr. Hugg develops his garden, it will not be long before he can supply a large portion of the local demand for berries. The berries are of splendid quality.

A REASSURING REPORT. After two weeks of absolutely hot weather no one would have been surprised if Saturday's fortnightly crop report of the Alberta Department had indicated marked deterioration in some areas. But it proved very reassuring. The great heat since the last report had affected the crop very little and the weather had been generally speaking ideal for growth. The rain during this period has come in localities which were most in need of it. In those where it was heaviest during June, little has fallen since the first of the month, but according to the department, the situation remains excellent in the central and northern parts of the province.

The possibility of rust damage was mentioned for the first time this year at the end of the week. This menace always has to be reckoned with in southern Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Fortunately Alberta has never needed to worry about it to any extent. The last year in which it had a marked effect on the total western yield was 1916. The damage from this cause that showed itself in the neighboring provinces as July progressed was the principal factor in cutting down what in the early part of the season gave promise of being a crop approaching the record of one of the previous years.

WHEN USING WILSON'S FLY PADS

There is only one way to kill all the Flies

This is it—Darken the room as much as possible, close the windows, raise one of the blinds where the sun shines in, about eight inches, place as many Wilson's Fly Pads as possible on the walls, ceiling and furniture (not on the floor) on the window ledge where the light is strong, leave the room closed for two or three hours, then sweep up the flies and burn them. See illustration below.

Put the plates away out of the reach of children until required in another room.

The right way to use Wilson's Fly Pads

Nearly 300 people in as many phone exchanges in the province were engaged in the work of collecting the returns. One hundred carried the news, covering the province with a vast network of telephone communication. Special telephone compiling operators were placed in the daily newspaper offices in Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge, five at Edmonton handling 26 riders, four at Calgary handling six riders. The returns were handed to the newspapers as soon as received, and conveyed over Canadian Press wires. In five continents the entire task of compiling all returns was handled by the telephone department.

SPORTSMANSHIP

The contrast between the British and American view of sports is neatly brought out in two recent interviews published in American newspapers. One is Walter Hagen's opinions of the recent golf championships in Great Britain. The other is Arthur Port's opinion of the approaching contest between the amateur team of Oxford and Cambridge and Princeton and Cornell. All Hagen could say was that his opponents were large and did not take the game seriously. No mention of the hospitality he received or of the friendships he made. Port, who was one of New Zealand's two or three competitors at the Olympic games and who won more points than the whole Canadian team of 30 or so, has a different idea of sports. His purpose is to win, and whether victory was obtained or not, the players was the name, and sport, if it made the competitors friends, was justified.

The two conceptions of sport are those which are at war with each other in Canada and there is no doubt that the British idea is the finer. The value of sport is not measured by the number of blue ribbons gained or medals won, but the sense of fair play and of friendliness that it develops.

So soon as it is the prize and the glory which count, a new element enters. The game is not played for its own sake, but for a reward outside the game, and the playing ceases to be sportsmanship and becomes professional.

Hagen's remarks were not very generous, and it is hoped that the interviewer stated his views more strongly than Hagen meant. But stated as they are published they are not the remarks of a magnanimous winner, and they overlook the effect of the war on British sport. As a contemporary remarker, if Waterloo was won, as Wellington said, upon the playing field of Eton, it is highly probable that the golf championship was lost on the field of Ypres.

TRUMP FOR TELEPHONES

For the first time in Canadian election history, all the results of the recent provincial election in Alberta were handled by telephone. Instead of a telegram, and the result was a triumph for the Alberta Government Telephone Department. In less than three hours after the close of the polls the result of the first choice count in all of the 2450 polls in the province, including the north country, were known, with the exception of a few from the most isolated polls, the first choice had been tabulated in every constituency.

Little wonder that none of its more than a hundred thousand owners who have enjoyed uninterrupted satisfaction from their Chrysler "70" for thousands upon thousands of miles, will ever willingly go back to the less modern type of cars.

The Wool Industry in South Africa

Underwood & Underwood

Wearing woollen with primitive tools in Africa.

The Union of South Africa is rightly classed among the great wool producing countries of the world.

Climate conditions there are admirably adapted to breeding and raising of the Merino type of sheep with a strong staple wool.

A large part of this country is suitable only for the raising of sheep, and the government is making progressive and intelligent efforts to improve both the sheep and the manner of preparing the wool for market.

Jackals being a strong menace in South Africa, long-time government loans are extended to sheep owners for the erection of jackal-proof fences. Government sheep experts are maintaining permanently in allotted districts so that their services and advice may be assured at a nominal fee.

The mutton sheep of South Africa is the fat-tailed, black-headed Cape—a non-wooled sheep. As no cross-breeding for mutton lambs is done, the wools are purely Merino in character.

Progress in this South African industry is particularly noticeable in the harvesting. Despite the fact that Kaffir labor can be secured at the equivalent of $2.50 per month, there is a trend towards the modern shearing machine as against the age-old hand blades, which, even on this continent, have not been discarded by many otherwise entirely progressive wool raisers.

A study of this fact, however, readily reveals the reason for it. While there is a first cost for the machine, the unskilled black adapts himself to its use much more readily than to the hand blades, and soon does a remarkably smooth job of shearing with the machine.

Once adapted to the use of the machine, its economic value is demonstrated in the materially greater number of sheep shorn daily, the better market value of the wool, the fewer maimed sheep, and not least important, the additional 5% to 15% more wool obtained with the machine over and above the amount of wool secured with the hand blades.

As a consequence, the machine resolves itself into a small investment with certain and big returns.

Steadily, the science of wool-marketing in South Africa is fast approaching the scientific efficiency of the Australian marketing plan, which, in without doubt, the most practical and efficient existence to-day.

Channel Swim This Year Is Improbable

Attempt Not Feasible Owing to Abnormal Weather Conditions.

No swimmer—male or female—will be able to swim the English channel this year, in the opinion of numerous French and English swimming experts and trainers.

Abnormal weather conditions, following a terrible winter on the oceans and an extremely dry spring, will make it extremely difficult for a man to attempt the battle with the channel tides, and virtually impossible for a woman.

Before starting a recent trip across the channel, the writer asked a hard-famed old veteran of the crew, "he thought a woman over would be able to conquer the cold water, the tides and the waves that are a part of the channel's daily routine."

The boat, tied up at the dock, was bobbing up and down like one of those "rick floor" devices at Coney Island, and waves were breaking over the bow. With the exception of one or two celebrants who had reached a "don't care" condition on the train from London, the passengers were all violently ill, and the trip had not yet started.

"Swim 'er?" the old salt answered. "It's a hard job for a man to ride 'er. Look at the way she's runnin' now. I'd call the bobbies if a girl of mine tried to swim 'er."

He said that only the greatest of luck ever had enabled a man to swim across, and that it needed more than luck to make it possible for a girl.

Women Members of League

Canadian is Member of Child Welfare Committee.

The League of Nations brings together clever women, and among them is a Canadian, Miss Charlotte Whitton. She is chairman of the child's welfare committee, and also a member of the Canadian Women's Press Club.

Another prominent woman connected with the league is British, Dame Rachel Greydy. She concentrates on opium studies, protection of women and child welfare.

Signs of Winter

"How do you know when winter is near?" asked the teacher.

"Please," answered little Harry at the bottom of the class, "it begins to get late earlier."

Possible Radio Waves

May Affect Weather

Reasonably Theory Advanced by French Minister of War.

Paul Painlevé, minister of war, who is one of the foremost scientists in Europe, in an interview in La Maitin, discussed the possibility of radio telegraphic waves causing the present winter, which weather, which has persisted in the greater part of Western Europe for nearly a month.

"The minister suggested in an article that intense radio activity in Europe has had a strong effect upon the weather generally."

"I do not wish to accuse anything in particular; I merely wish to call attention to a hypothesis which appears to me to be logical," he said.

"For example, if you introduce radio telegraphic waves into a lightly enclosed room, while the air is absolutely transparent, in a moment the drops of water begin to form on your face. What has happened?"

"The Minister put the question in a light which is highly interesting," he said. "The radio waves, which have been introduced into the room, have turned into water. You have made rain in your own house."

"One, therefore, can conclude that the multitude of radio telegraphic waves existing in the ether just now produces the same effect upon the atmosphere, the result being the very beautiful month of June with rain each day."

M. Painlevé then goes on to say that it was not at all beyond the bounds of possibility that future generations would be able to control rain at will, once the fundamental mechanism of these radio waves or tides be known.

"Scientific experiments have already been made," he continued, "in America, for example, if they have actually begun to attack rain, they have started the war on fog."

"Control of the weather is a possibility of the future, one of the problems of tomorrow. Humanity, which has harnessed the waters of the earth, utilized the sun and now over the mountains, has as yet done nothing to vanquish rain and cold."

Women of England and War

Demand Compulsory Arbitration to Prevent Strife.

The women of England have had bitter personal experience with war. They have of their loved ones during the great European conflict, and they have saved themselves without stint in various capacities of service.

For this reason the ladies of the Hyde Park in London on Saturday, which was the climax to a great converging pilgrimage of women from all parts of the kingdom, is impressive marked degree, and the resolution adopted at this great anti-war pageant will, or should, be regarded with importance.

The women of England have declared that law must take the place of war in the settlement of international disputes. They demand compulsory arbitration to prevent strife, and they would have Britain take the lead at the disarmament conference to be held by the League of Nations, and use its influence to make war a thing of the past.

The resolutions adopted at this great women's gathering cannot very well be disregarded. Indeed it may be that they will have a very important effect in shaping official British policy in connection with the coming disarmament conference.

The women of England, apparently have faith in the League of Nations, but they seemingly would have it equipped with more teeth. They apparently see the need of an element of compulsion about the League, this is because that universal peace shall become more of a fact than a theory—Regina Leader.

Weather Not Cause Of Colds

Over Fatigue Exposes System to Ever-Present Germs.

"The time-honored notion that colds are for the most part caused by inclement weather is ridiculous in a bull's head by the United States public health service."

Cold in the head, says the bulletin, is unquestionably the consequence of over-fatigue, which exposes the system to the bacilli that float constantly about. The majority of colds are "caught" during the months when little outdoor exercise is taken.

It is not cold or damp which causes colds (the technical word for the ailment), but the substitution of stale air for fresh.—Detroit Free Press.

Making Maps From Aeroplane

Much Quicker Than Land Survey Where Accuracy Not Essential.

Where only approximate accuracy is necessary, making maps from the air has already proved valuable. The biggest completed task of the kind is the mapping of the inland delta of Burma. In that case an area of 1,350 square miles was photographed from an aeroplane in about nine weeks, whereas a ground survey of the same difficult country would probably have taken five years.

She takes pride in the fact that she never breaks this rule, and that she never works half of that period on Saturdays.

To Represent Canada

W. A. Wilson Will Be Agricultural Representative For Canada in Britain.

W. A. Wilson, agricultural product representative for Canada in the United Kingdom, has been appointed Canadian member on the official board organized to direct the marketing of Empire produce in Great Britain.

Members of the board was made known coincident with the announcement that Lieut.-Col. L. G. Amery, secretary of state for the dominions, has accepted the chairmanship. Seven members will sit on the board as representatives of the British Isles while the dominions and colonies will have one member each.

Mr. Wilson has been connected with Canadian dairy production for many years. Attached to the dairy branch of the federal department of agriculture he organized creameries in the province of Saskatchewan when dairying in that province was in its infancy.

He was for many years superintendent for Saskatchewan of the scheme for promotion of dairying under the Federal Government. He later helped organize the co-operative creameries in that province, and was for many years associated with the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creamery at Lethbridge.

Mr. Wilson was appointed three years ago to his present position.

Airship's World Flight

Proposal to Make a Non-stop Flight Around the World in Eight Days.

A vast airship is being partly constructed at the Zeppelin works at Friedrichshafen, with which it is proposed to make a non-stop flight around the world. She is designed to carry an immense load of fuel, starting from the airship base at Seville, Spain, she will head out across the Atlantic, ascending until she is in a westerly stream.

When Central America is reached the airship will seek suitable currents for her crossing of the Pacific, after which it will be the aim to manoeuvre into an air stream from the east, and so regain the starting point in Spain.

Running her engines at moderate speed, so as to conserve fuel, and utilizing whatever possible by favoring winds, it is calculated that the non-stop world flight will be accomplished in about 22 days. If the airship now being built is to be German-owned, it should be noted that ever since the peace, Germany, almost by construction has been restricted by allied regulations, which seriously increase the difficulty of building an airship capable of such a flight. A conference is in progress in Paris for the abolition or modification of these restrictions.

No Arctic Continent

Nothing But Watery Wastes and Ice Fields At North Pole.

Open waters at and around the neighborhood of the North Pole, the report of the crew of the Norge, a few days before Lieut. Com. Byrd looked down upon the pole from his plane and saw nothing but ice and snow. In April, 1919, when Peary reached the top of the world he found soft ice there and chopped through it to take soundings. The Norge saw no land near the pole as it approached and glimpsed neither land nor continent between the pole and Point Barrow.

"The Arctic continent," believed by many to exist, evidently is nonexistent. Watery wastes, ice-lands, have dispelled the dream of island stations and radio picket posts for the weather bureau of the nations on the top of the world. Ice fields eternal opening from time to time and giving glimpses of the polar seas, seems definitely established. That much of the polar mystery has been dispelled, and with the vanishing of that mystery it is possible that the pole will lose much of the glamour it has held for generations.—New York Evening Post.

In Fine Type Of Canadian

Mr. Herbert Ames Will Be Missed By Members of League.

The retirement of Mr. Herbert Ames from his position of financial director of the League of Nations will be a distinct loss to Western world society. The reasons for his resignation have not been made known, but it can be safely assumed that they do not include any lack of faith in the goal that has been accomplished and yet may be done through the medium of the league.

When the treaty of Versailles brought into existence the League of Nations, Canada was invited to name the man who should draw up the bulk of that organization and supervise its expenditures. The choice fell upon Mr. Herbert Ames, as head of the Patriotic Fund organization in Canada, had raised 4 million dollars during the war.

Mr. Herbert Ames, a Conservative in politics, has won the respect of all classes of citizens by his loyalty to duty, his devotion to the cause of peace and the integrity of his character. He could render great service to Canada at this time by giving his fellow countrymen first-hand information that would increase interest in and support for the league.—Toronto Star.

Recognized By His Voice

Old Lady, Remembered Being After Fifteen Years.

Remembered after being fifteen years ago in Glasgow, the voice of Archie McCullough, a London Kiwanian, brought about a strange reunion in Montreal, during the recent convention of Kiwanis Clubs held there.

The London chorus was singing in a public ward to Victoria Hospital, Montreal, when a nurse came from a private ward and asked for "Archie McCullough."

With her to her patient, a little old woman near the end of life. In a quivering voice she asked him if he had sung at a concert in Glasgow in 1911.

On comparing dates with the old lady, Mr. McCullough remembered that he had sung there at that time. The aged woman, who had not known Mr. McCullough personally, remembered his name and voice through the years that have passed.

Made New Marathon Record

Old Riffian Carried Dispatch Seventy Miles In Four Hours.

Hammou Ben Hodge, the sixty-seven-year-old Riffian warrior that carried a dispatch nearly seventy miles on foot between sunset and sunrise, is said to have established a new marathon record. Hodge was still running strong when he approached the gates of Oudja, in French Morocco, and he is reported with his message to the Rifian "foreign minister" as Abd-El-Krim. "No peace without autonomy," Hodge barked his demand from the Atlas Hills, where Krim was operating. After outdaring of coffee and milk in Oudja, he appeared as fresh as if he had not gone through any unusual exertion.

Community Halls Are Popular

Many Incorporated By Rural Communities In Saskatchewan.

Many inquiries are received by W. Waldron, registrar of Co-operative Association for Saskatchewan for particulars regarding the incorporation of rural clubs for the purpose of building a community hall. At the present time in Saskatchewan there are some sixty communities, either incorporated or under consideration. Money has never been granted by the government for this purpose, but the form of incorporation has been made so inexpensive, four dollars and fifty cents only, that rural communities gladly avail themselves of the facilities afforded by the Co-operative Association Act.

A Tribute To Britain

That was a fine tribute paid by Dr. Wise, Rabbi of the New York Free Synagogue, to Great Britain at the B'nai B'rith convention when he said: "There is not a nationality, a religion, a tongue, a race on earth representative of which are not to be found within the British Commonwealth. As a student of life and history, I say to you that Great Britain has learned the problem of dealing justly with all its peoples and faiths and races and tongues as no other people have done up to this time."—Kingston Standard.

Aid For The Blind

Old Age Pension Bill Will Be Introduced At Next Session.

Formerly Macdonald-King, a delegation representing the Canadian Federation for the Blind, that the Old Age Pension Bill, killed in the senate, would be re-introduced at the next session. He stated the government hoped to hold a conference with the provinces in the interval, and that after such a conference it would be in a stronger position when presenting its bill to the house. He promised the delegation he would see the claims of blind persons were considered when that conference took place and would regard it as a privilege to sponsor legislation for the benefit of the blind.

Strange Romantic Love Adventures of the Gapper you know

Joanna

by H. L. GATES

Copyright 1925 by H. L. GATES

Published by arrangement with First National Pictures, Inc.

THE STORY THUS FAR

Joanna, a pretty, ultra-modern, shop girl is told by her employer that she has been given a million dollars to spend by an unknown benefactor. It is not even to know his name, there are no "conditions" to meet before she can get the money. Nothing more than this can be saved from banker Eggleston, nor his suave, man-about-town nephew, Brandon, who informs her that he intends to make love to her while helping her write her first check. Dazed by this sudden deluge of wealth, but because her friends and acquaintances will not believe in her she returns home happy after an orgy of buying to find John, her old-fashioned sweetheart and Brandon awaiting her. Brandon is suave, John silent—almost hostile. After Brandon leaves, John informs Joanna that he does not believe she came by the money honourably. He is angry.

When she awoke to the new day—the first full day of her new existence—varying emotions rushed in confusion into Joanna's mind. Her first thought was of John. With it came the surge of recollection of the scene in the "drawing room only." She winced at the sudden memory. She would get hold of him right away. She wouldn't lose a minute—before he went to his work. She bicycled her hand in the hair on the pillow beside her. George had stubbornly shut his eyes, refusing to be ordered up by any household maid, but opened them wide at the viciousness of Joanna's tug at her stung head.

"Pile out and get dressed," Joanna commanded. "And be quick—you can make up afterwards. Bring some things in and we'll ask Mrs. Adams to let us cook them in the kitchen for breakfast and I want you to telephone from downstairs on your way out."

George, her wits not fully gathered, broke off short, his general remark to the effect that some people had their craft. Things came back to her, especially that she must send word to the store that she'd broke a leg, or her neck, and couldn't show up at the silk counter until the next day, and that Joanna was going to take her shopping. She blurted out her first

PAINS ALL OVER BODY

Two More Cases of Feminine Illness Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Barrington, N. S. "I had terrible feelings, headache, back and stomach pains and pains all over my body. I would have to go to bed every month and nothing would do me good. My husband and my father did my work for me as I have two children and we have quite a big place. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I got a little book about it through the mail, and my husband sent to Faxon's and got me a bottle, and then we got more from the store. I am feeling fine now and do all my work and am able to go out around now. I tell my friends it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that makes me feel so well." Mrs. Victoria HARRINGTON, Barrington, Nova Scotia.

Dull Pains in Back

St. Thomas, Ont. "I took four bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and found great relief from the dull, heavy pains in the small of my back and the weakness from which I suffered for five years after my boy was born. After taking the Vegetable Compound and using Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash I am feeling better than I have for the past seven years, and advise my friends to take it." Mrs. F. JOHNSON, 40 Moore Street, St. Thomas, Ont. C.

a block from the store, where she would not be defeated as having broken neither a leg nor a neck, while Joanna presented herself to Mr. Graydon's secretary. She just wanted to talk to him again, she explained, and to let him see her.

The "boss" of yesterday made her understand that he was her "friend" of today, and all day. He thanked her, gently, for stopping in. He hoped that she would come in often. But he would not give her the thing she asked. Advice. Something that would be a hint to her of what was expected of her; of what she should do to carry out the wishes, or the plans, of her unknown benefactor.

"I have been cautioned by your banker, Eggleston," he said, "that I must not pretend to advise you. Not now, at any rate. Mr. Eggleston is emphatic in saying that a condition that went with the money was that you solve your own problems. After a while, perhaps, some of the severity of the ban may be lifted. Just now I mustn't interfere."

"Am I just to take all this money and go out and spend it, then?" Joanna persisted.

"Just go out and spend it—somehow. I suppose that is one way of repeating that you may do with it whatever you wish."

So naturally that she did not know that she was doing it, she began to tell him about Cohen, and Mrs. Adams, and John. Suddenly she hesitated and was abashed. "But all that does interest you, does it?" she apologized.

The gray man had been watching her intently. Almost eagerly. He reassured her quickly. "On the contrary, Joanna," that is just what I mean, it does interest me immensely. "You won't go on—about John?" You stretched him out, I hope and it's quite all right, now."

"No," Joanna replied, her voice quivering a little. "I didn't, and I don't. I'm afraid it's all crooked in his mind."

"What are you going to do about it?"

"Just let it go, I guess. Crooked things that ought to be straight, must get that way by themselves, I think. If they have to be hammered out, they're only made to believe."

She was silent, for a minute, then added so suddenly that Graydon was sure she hoped to catch him by his guard.

"What would you do about it if you were in my place?"

He smiled. "That is one of the very things I mustn't advise you about. I shall want to know, very sincerely, when it begins to straighten out—and see what happens then. I shall be interested in John."

"Well, that's more than I am, right now," the girl returned. She was restless under the keen scrutiny with which Graydon was steadily observing her. She was still uncomfortable when she said good-bye to him, and had intended to ask him what part in her affairs he thought Brandon was to play. But she concluded that she would have to find that out for herself.

It was then that she resolved that perhaps Brandon could show her the way to go as well—better, perhaps, than John.

Motorist Effected Big Saving With New Fangled Device

The story is going the rounds to the effect that a certain automobile owner installed a new fangled carburetor that was guaranteed to save twenty per cent. in gas. He then bought special spark plugs that were guaranteed to save twenty per cent. of the same precious fluid, and an intake super-leader that was guaranteed to save another twenty per cent. He next put in a patented rear axle with a guarantee of a twenty per cent. saving, and retired with a new brand of tires that promised a twenty per cent. saving in gas consumption. Finally, he drained his crank case and refilled it with a new oil guaranteed to increase his mileage twenty per cent. Now, with a fuel economy of one hundred and twenty per cent. the owner has to stop every hundred miles and bail out the gas tank to keep it from running over. The Outlook.

Use Of Concrete Growing

London Writer Predicts Trains Made Of This Substance

We may see concrete trains in the near future for the use of this substance on the British railways is becoming more and more popular, says a writer in a London paper.

At one of the four latest concrete yards in Britain, 22,000 concrete articles of varying sizes and types were produced last year for the Iron Way.

Well aerated slag chippings and slag dust are fed into a power driven mixer, and the mixture is emptied from the machine to skips, which transport it over a tramway to that part of the yard where wood, iron or steel moulds are to be filled.

The articles are reinforced with steel mesh or steel bars, which are laid in the concrete of the moulds until the concrete hardens.

Amongst the types of articles for railway use made in concrete are fence posts, level crossing gates, telegraph poles, notice boards, mile and gradient posts and paving slabs.

Constant experiments are made by the railway chemists to discover the limitations and utility of concrete articles, and specimen posts are subjected to all sort of weather conditions to test their durability.

Concrete floor for railways have also been experimented with, so that concrete trains may come—sooner than we expect.

People Learning To Appreciate Good Music

Radio Has Brought the Best Into Music

It is called the age of jazz. Old-fashioned people describe its musical tastes as hopeless. It dances to semi-barbarian rhythms and delights in songs which mean nothing and songs which mean too much.

But the situation really is as bad as all that?

There is more good music listened to today than ever before in the history of the world. There is more good music appreciated today than ever before in the history of the world.

The phonograph and the radio has brought the finest music, rendered by the finest artists, into homes where such music would otherwise have been unknown. In still other homes, it has been known, but in such small quantity and of such low quality of rendition.

When people say that the world is flooded with bad books and bad music, it is well to remember that it is also flooded with good books and good music, and that the good of such class is appreciated by a growing multitude.

Developing Individuality

Majority Should Not Be Allowed to Standardize Any One Type

One of the weaknesses of democracy is the tendency to standardize thought, speech, manners and morals, conforming them to the type favored by the majority. In a democracy, there is always danger of the tyranny of majorities. That is why it is essential to liberty and progress to safeguard the rights of minorities.

This fact seems to be realized by the Rev. Francis J. McManis, of the American Methodist Episcopal Church, in an address to a national gathering of social workers at Cleveland he stressed the desirability of encouraging the development of individuality.

To this end it is his belief necessary to have "free talk, liberty to all, privilege to none, and no flattening out of public opinion by any act, organization or class by a steam roller process."

Freedom for the individual to develop his own way, and not to let the way other people want, only then can the chief danger of democracy be avoided. Hamilton Herald.

Symbolism Of Keys

People Using Key Have No Idea of Historic Significance

Most of us, when we use a key to enter a house, have no thought of the historical significance of the action. Yet the key has a symbolism entirely its own. Examine the images of the Egyptian deities in the British Museum and you will notice in the hands of some of them a cross with a circular handle. It represents the Ankh, or key of life, one of the oldest of all religious symbols, denoting the power to open and close the door to heaven. The key had a magical meaning for the Greeks and Romans. Their gods were often given the title of key-bearer, as, for example, Janus, the god of gates, who was supposed to unlock the doors of war and peace. In early Christian history the symbol of the key was associated with St. Peter, with his two keys of gold and iron.

What Bill Said

An old maid who lived in a London suburb was asked at the telephone booth by the man replying the phone wires near her house.

"She wrote to the company about it, and the foreman was asked to report. This he did in the following way: 'It was up the telephone pole, and accidentally the hot lead fell upon Bill. It went down his neck. Then he said, 'You really must be more careful, Harry.'"

The architect of his own future never tires of planning extensions.

Flag-Waving Complex

American Automobile Association Issues Statement to Intending Tourists Visiting Canada

As a result of investigation following representations from official sources, the American Automobile Association has broadcast a strong warning against the practice of indulging in late waving of the Stars and Stripes from United States tourists' automobiles in Canada.

This practice, the national motor body asserted, has caused less than a dozen Canadian motorists to be killed and has already resulted in some untoward incidents. Canadian officials, said the statement, while desirous in every way of promoting international tourist traffic, even to the extent of being lenient in the case of United States tourists, are nevertheless apprehensive over the flag waving complex of visiting Americans.

Commenting on the situation, the AAA, urged car owners either to abstain from displaying the flag while in Canada, or to carry the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack in conjunction.

The statement concludes: "Failure on the part of tourists to heed this warning will in all probability lead to a stricter regulation on both sides of the border. This would be a highly undesirable outcome because it would delay traffic and increase congestion at important points of exit and entry."

Interesting Variety Of Plants

Seed Is Sent To New Gardens, England, From Explorers in Different Parts Of The World

In the New Gardens, England, a variety of plants may be seen grown from seed sent home by explorers in different parts of the world. There are yellow and purple alders found by the botanist with the Mount Everest Expedition; blue poppies sent home from Tibet by Mr. Kingston Ward, who recently returned from his expedition exploring with Lord Cawdor; a yellow alfalfa sent by Mr. Forrest, the plant explorer, who is now in China, and new gentians from the collection of Mr. Rock, the American plant explorer, who is now long back from exploring the northern part of Western China.

There are also numerous new primulas sent by all the explorers, but as they are found growing at an altitude of 10,000 ft. to 15,000 ft., they do not all like the English climate.

Some Peculiar Titles

Three Bestowed On Negro Emperor On Favorite Subject

Among the whimsical titles which appear on the pages of national history is the title of "Emperor of the Negroes" bestowed on the Duke of Marmalade, the Count of Lemonade, and the Earl of Brandy. They are, or were, however, real titles bestowed by a genuine monarch on three favorites during the last century. In 1811 a peculiar ceremony took place in the presence of the Duke of Marmalade, the Count of Lemonade, and the Earl of Brandy. Gradually Clearing Scapa Flow

Cruiser Hindenburg When Scrapped Will Mean That Bay Salvage Sunk by her crew at Scapa Flow over six years ago, the German cruiser Hindenburg will be adrift again in a few months. How is it to be done, and what will happen then?

Already twenty-one smaller warships have been brought to the surface by means of wires passed under them from floating docks, but the Hindenburg, with a tonnage of 27,000, is much too heavy for that. She is to be made to rise of her own accord by having the water pumped out of her.

To do this all her portholes and all the eight "sea cocks" the Germans ought to sink her, will have to be covered with patches of concrete or steel. To get at the sea cocks, which are round holes in her hull, two feet across, it will be necessary to make tunnels in the sea bed on which she lies and to scrape away the barnacles and seaweed that cover her bottom.

All this will take twelve divers six months, but when they have done their pumps will pump out some thing like 60,000 tons of water in twelve hours, and the Hindenburg will then slowly rise to the surface.

And what then? She will be run around by the crew for some days, the value of which will be more than worth the cost. After that the remaining big ships will be raised, at the rate of two a year. The Scapa Flow is clear of them.

Chinese Believe Bones Have Medicinal Value

Ground Fossils Bones Mixed With Grease Bring Fabulous Prices

The search in Asia by the expedition of the American Museum of Natural History and the Field Museum of Chicago under the leadership of Roy Chapman Andrews in the hope of finding the cradle of man has led, through a strange coincidence, to competition with an old established Chinese business. Not that the competition endangers a native industry, for the bone supply is as plentiful as the number of persons who have faith in the medicinal value of powdered fossilized bones.

Dragon bones, so-called, are found in many parts of China, but it is only in the province of Szechwan that the bones come into competition with the industry, and then only in small degree, and in the vicinity of the Yangtze gorges, now becoming so well known to tourists who have the leisure to make a 1,200-mile water trip in from the sea. The dragon bones bring $5 a hundred pounds, but under imaginative names and legend of cures bring their weight in gold in the apothecary shops after they have been ground to powder and mixed with grease or a little phosphate.

Dragon bone medicine is a cure for all in China and is a story in itself.

Had A Real Grievance

Train Began Late Extended Length Of Sunday Sermon

The railroad superintendent, after becoming his visitor to a chair, invited him to outline his complaint, which was told to the engineer on the express that passes through this Centre to quit whistling Sunday mornings just before noon, said the visitor "That's impossible," replied the engineer. "Why do you make such a strange request?" "Well, you see," explained the visitor, "my minister preaches until he hears the whistle blow, and your train was twenty minutes late last Sunday."

All Ready for Fair
on July 26-7-8

The committees in charge of arrangements for the Lacombe Fair, to be held July 26, 27 and 28, have their work well under way, and promise our citizens an event as good if not better than last year's effort. Entries are coming in rapidly. For the entertainment of the visitors, the committee is putting on an exceptionally good and varied program for Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, the whole to conclude with a fireworks display at night. The Midway will be a special feature this year, and the young and old will be able to get action at the various booths. A band of funny clowns will be in evidence to provide amusement for the younger people. The band of Cree Indians from Hobema will be down in full force and will stage two real old time pow-wows on the grounds, and will be garbed in the styles of long ago; war paint and all. There will be a good program of horse races and other athletic events, also baseball, basketball and football matches. For the grandstand a first class minstrel troupe of colored artists will provide the very newest and very oldest southern melodies. There will be a dog dancing competition between local artists which will be most interesting. For the youngsters the committee has provided an up-to-date merry-go-round—the best in Alberta. There will be Indian and square races, cow-boy races, in fact everything that may tend to add to the enjoyment of the grounds. Full information may be obtained from any member of the committee or on application to Mr. D. F. Chisholm, Secretary of Lacombe Fair Association. Make our Fair Days a real holiday this year, and do all you can to help the association get the debt off the grounds. Every cent cleared on the three days will be applied on the debt of the association and it is anticipated that with the loyal assistance of all, the grounds can be free of debt in three years. But everyone has got to help.

LEEDALE APPRECIATES THEIR TEACHER

Leedale School closed on June 30th with average attendance and a very good record, as to the work done during the year.
Every pupil was promoted with good averages. Only the future will tell the results of the 8th year examinations—we hope for the best.
Unfortunately this school was closed for six weeks, while teacher and many pupils were confined to their respective homes, during the epidemic of scarlet fever, which was prevalent here and in neighboring districts.
The teacher Miss Anna Broderson, entertained the pupils on the last afternoon of school, gave them a delightful treat of candies and fruits, and the time was spent in outdoor games.
Naturally children welcome the holidays, but their hearts were heavy, when it was fully realized this was farewell. Miss Broderson, in the meantime had resigned her position as teacher and is leaving for the U.S.A. with her parents. Miss Broderson is loved by all and we wish both her and her parents God Speed on their journey.
The parents are among the earliest settlers of our district, and we owe much to their influence and examples of good citizenship in the community.
Besides directing the children over the rough and rugged road of Reading, Writing and Arithmetic, Miss Broderson strove to bring out that which is so often lacking in rural schools, development of Social and Individual talent. Many a bleak winter evening, have been made cheery by the clever entertainments, placed before our little public by the children. Art was surely taught and restored to its fullest extent, and our homes are filled with landscapes, scenes, birds and animals and flowers, all productions from the brush of our pupils.
We all wish to extend a word in recognition of the results of Miss Broderson's efforts and claim her as a product of our community, and will hope to truly thrive under the guidance of her feminine hand, which leaves the stroke of gentlemen on our children and people in general.
Yours,
Patrons.

GARDEN PARTY AT CLIVE

A very successful garden party was staged at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Allen, Clive, Monday, July 5th, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of Clive Union Church. A large crowd assembled on the lawn about 6:30 and did ample justice to the good things provided. A varied program of sports followed in which old and young participated. Mr. and Mrs. Allen were heard to express the wish that at some future date they may have the privilege of serving their friends again. The Clive Band kindly furnished music during the evening.
